(1) Many of the things in life that make our lives meaningful are not in the realm of our control. We cannot control, for example, whether or not we are born a man or a woman. We cannot control whether or not we are rich, or unlucky, or healthy, or sick. We cannot even always control whether or not we have free time. It would, however, be very wrong to think that having no control over these things in our lives means that they do not matter. They all matter very much, because without meaning our lives would be pointless. In this book I will try to explain why and how our life, for example, has to have meaning. The topic of meaning in life is a very large and broad one, and there are many possible reasons to say why it is important. I will focus on two main, related ideas that make up one way of saying why meaning in life is important. (2) 5. It is important because meaning in life is the name for what we are all in life searching for. We are all in life in search of meaning and meaning in life is the name for the direction our lives are pointed in. The question, then, is: what is the name for the direction our lives are pointed in, and what is the meaning of life? First, let's look at the meaning of life itself. The meaning of life is the name for what it means to be human. The meaning of life is what it means to be a conscious being, an animal. You do not need to believe that life has a purpose in order to be a conscious being, and you do not need to believe that life has a purpose in order to be a conscious being. However, if you do not believe that life has a purpose then you have no reason to say that being a conscious being is important. If you say that being a conscious being is important, then you have to explain why. One way of doing this is by saying that it is important because life is meaningful. Life can be meaningless, and that is why it is important to have meaning in life. The meaning of life is being conscious and an animal, and so one way of saying that life has meaning is that being a conscious being and an animal is important, that being a conscious being is important and being an animal is important. How can one being be important? One way of saying that it is important to be a conscious being is that conscious beings 82157476af
